MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. For seventeen years previously, he was Professor of Preaching and Worship at Knox College, Toronto. Earlier, while minister of Trinity Church, Amherstview, Ontario, the congregation grew and became self-supporting. That time as a congregational minister instilled a love of local churches. He continues to preach regularly in congregations across Canada.

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Marianne Woods
Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Marianne Woods
Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. How often at the close of the day have you said "What a day this has been. I should never even have gotten up and out of bed this morning"? Probably most of us have had that kind of day. Maybe we have a lot of them.

The thing is, our attitude at the beginning of the day can set the pace for the rest of it. If we begin with a spirit of fear: complaining, dreading our day ahead or the schedule before us, wondering how we will have the strength and wisdom to meet all its demands, then soon we become filled with discouragement and self-pity. It becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

But the problem is less about the tasks ahead and more about how we start our day and who we start with. What a difference it makes if we first look into the face of God as we wake. We can prepare ourselves for the day by committing it to Him, by asking Him to guard our conversations, actions and thoughts that they will be pleasing to Him, by taking time to tell Him "thank you" for the opportunity to wake again. Remember the old saying, "This is the first day of the rest of our lives". Well it is. Every day is. And we must ask God to fit it into His place for us rather than try to work everything out on our own.

Each day offers new opportunities. There will be new choices to make, new decisions, new avenues or service each day. And yes there will be hard days. It may even be a day completely filled with heartache and pain, a day packed with unsolved problems. But how different our day will be if we begin with a rejoicing spirit, knowing it has been entrusted to us by the Lord and creator of all things.

God has given His promises to encourage us through the day. "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble." (Nah 1:7)

Yesterday with its successes and failures is past. Gone forever it cannot be changed. Like Lot's wife we are not to look back on. But what we can do is rest in the knowledge that tomorrow is still in God's hands and know truly that right now; in this place, only today is ours to live for Him. And because of that, it is important how we use it. Remember no matter what the circumstances may be that, today is part of your life's work. And in the end, our joy is not in the day at all, but in the Lord who made it.

As the psalmist said, "Every day will I bless You, and I will praise Your name forever and ever." (PS 145:2) "Every day" includes today, good or bad, busy or relaxing, calm or tumultuous. Either way, give thanks for the day. Every day is a day to use or lose for God. So let us all together devote it to Him. After all, "This is the Day that the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it".

WORSHIP COMMITTEE

At our January meeting the Committee gave preliminary consideration to a proposal for a questionnaire on "worship" at First Church. The main purpose of such a questionnaire will be to survey, anonymously, the opinions of congregants on various aspects of the Sunday worship service, including readings, prayers, hymns, music, etc. Once the questionnaire is finalized and approved in about two months, it will be made available for worshippers to complete and return.

This will be the second survey the Committee has administered in recent memory, the first being a questionnaire in Fall 2013 focusing specifically on Christmas Eve services.

Your co-operation on the forthcoming and wider-ranging survey will be very much appreciated.

Marianne Woods
Convenor, Worship Committee

PLANNED GIVING

An Expression of Love

Popular culture and custom celebrate love during the cold month of February, with Valentine's Day focusing on traditional expressions of romantic love. There are many kinds of love that give our lives meaning, including familial love, love for thy neighbour and fundamentally, love of God. The word agāpe, which has Greek origins, is sometimes used to refer to God's love for us and our love of God, also demonstrated through our love for our neighbour. Agāpe is also sometimes translated as charity. The word charity has Latin origins, from the word caritas, which some translate to mean Christian love.

The word charity in our society has come to mean a donation to a good cause, often a monetary donation, but also a donation of one's time or talents. In its truest sense, charity is that and much more. As its origins show, charity is an expression of love, a giving of oneself, a demonstration of what we value.

Take a moment to celebrate many kinds of love this month, and consider making a planned gift part of your charitable giving, as a way to recognize and sustain what has enriched your life.

THE MODERATOR

It is not often a Moderator of the General Assembly -- the highest court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada -- visits Regina, yet this is exactly what the present incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Farris, is about to do.

On Sunday February 22 Dr. Farris will preach during the morning service at First Church following which he and his wife will join us for a congregational lunch downstairs. (For his afternoon commitments that day at Norman Kennedy Church please the Clerk of Session's report above). On Monday afternoon, February 23, Dr. Farris will visit the cemetery site of the Regina Indian Industrial School which was operated by the Presbyterian Church from 1891 to 1910; and afterwards travel to Grenfell for another potluck supper!

Dr. Farris holds degrees from the University of Toronto, Union Theological Seminary in Virginia and Cambridge University. He is described as a person with a "passion for developing and leading a new style of educating leaders for the coming church". His numerous publications focus primarily on helping "ministers and elders understand and preach the word of God more effectively".

He has served on the Executive Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; helped negotiate the "repudiation of apartheid" by the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa; and is a past member of the Academy of Homiletics.

Rev. Farris and his wife Patricia, a school principal, have two sons one of whom is a minister in Sarnia, Ontario.

Let us express our sincere appreciation to the Rev. Dr. Farris for his visit to First Church and give him a warm welcome on Sunday, February 24.
