FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, REGINA

May 2018

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

Each year The Presbyterian Church in Canada designates a Sunday in the month of May as Healing and Reconciliation Sunday, and it encourages congregations to mark this theme during worship services on that day. With the leadership of First Church's Session and the Mission & Outreach Committee, Healing and Reconciliation Sunday has been honoured at First Church in the past. In 2017, for example, you welcomed Dr. Blair Stonechild from the First Nations University of Canada as a guest speaker following the worship service.

This year, Session approved a proposal from Mission & Outreach to invite Dr. Stonechild back to First Church so that we can continue our learning about Indigenous Spirituality. We have already held the first of three study evenings with Dr. Stonechild, and there are two more scheduled for Mondays May 7 & 14 at 7:00 pm. We were pleased that over 100 people came out last Monday for the first session, and we hope that we will have a similar attendance at the upcoming sessions.

One of the things that I noted from Dr. Stonechild's first presentation was the teaching within Indigenous Spirituality that we are created to be stewards of the Earth, taking care of all the created things. (It sounds a lot like an important teaching within Christianity also!) He talked about the phrase "all my relations" which I have noticed is often used as a greeting or way of signing off at the end of a letter by my Indigenous friends. We might assume that "all my relations" only refers to my relatives or at least to other human beings. But it actually refers to everything in the Creation – plants, animals, and people. It reminds us as human beings that we are only one part of God's Creation, we are late-comers to Creation, and we need to learn how to develop appropriate relationships with all created things.

An example of an Indigenous spiritual practice was shared with regard to our human practice of eating other animals. Dr. Stonechild explained that Indigenous hunters would say a prayer to say thank you to the spirit of the deer that has given up its life for the sake of the people who will consume it. I remember another elder teaching that when we live in right relations with the creatures of the earth, when we treat the animals with respect and dignity and give thanks to the Creator, then the animal actually offers its life willingly as a sacrifice for our good. How many of us actually say a prayer of thanks when we pick up steaks at the grocery store? How many of us pause to truly give thanks to God whenever we share food?

Now, some of you may be wondering why a Christian church like ours would be interested in learning about Indigenous Spirituality. Indeed, you may even be questioning whether such study of other spiritual practices is appropriate or not. Perhaps it will be helpful to know that our denomination made a statement on Aboriginal Spiritual Practices in 2015, after debate and discussion within the church, about how we should engage with our Indigenous neighbours.

You can read the full statement online at <http://presbyterian.ca/2015/01/29/statement-aboriginal-spiritual-practices/> but here are a few relevant excerpts for your consideration:

"First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples, before any encounter with Christianity, found meaning, spiritual benefit and the presence of the Creator through life-giving Indigenous spiritual practices that have deeply rooted traditions.

"Through the church's participation in the residential school system, The Presbyterian Church in Canada contributed to the banning of those traditions. The Presbyterian Church in Canada presumed to know better and, in our cultural arrogance, tried to suppress practices whose value we were then incapable of perceiving.

“We are now aware that there is a wide variety of Aboriginal spiritual practices and we acknowledge that it is for our church to continue in humility to learn the deep significance of these practices and to respect them and the Aboriginal elders who are the keepers of their traditional sacred truths...

“It is not for The Presbyterian Church in Canada to validate or invalidate Aboriginal spiritualities and practices. Our church, however, is deeply respectful of these traditions. In this spirit The Presbyterian Church in Canada is committed to walking with Aboriginal people in seeking shared truth that will lead to restoring right relations.”

This Sunday, May 6th at First Church, we will celebrate Healing and Reconciliation Sunday with a guest preacher, the Rev. Dr. Margaret Mullin. Margaret has a passion for inner city mission and has been working in the inner city of Winnipeg since 1999. She recently retired from serving as the Executive Director of Winnipeg Inner City Missions, a mission of The Presbyterian Church in Canada, serving the city's north end. She continues to serve as the minister at Place of Hope Presbyterian Church in Winnipeg.

Margaret has devoted her life to healing and reconciliation between the church and Canada's First Nations and Aboriginal people. Due to her Ojibway and Irish/Scottish origins, she has often felt that “my people hurt my people,” which has driven Margaret to be a bridge between the two worlds and to find ways to heal from the past and move forward together in peace.

On Sunday, Margaret will preach from God's Word to us through the prophet Ezekiel (chapter 37, about the Valley of the Dry Bones), and she will share some Indigenous Spiritual practices that are regularly incorporated into her Christian and Presbyterian ministry in Winnipeg. We can look forward to learning about praying in the four directions, listening to a traditional drumming song, and experiencing the practice of smudging. I hope that you can be with us for worship this Sunday to welcome Margaret, to worship God together, and deepen our understanding of our Indigenous sisters and brothers as we learn from them.

ORGAN APPEAL

In June, we will have some important work done on our pipe organ. All the pipes will be removed and cleaned, and some new sets of pipes will be added to provide features we don't currently have. Our organ, as a result, will sound brighter and better than ever! Normally these kinds of upgrades can be very expensive but, fortunately, we were able to acquire some used pipes last year so the whole project will cost approximately $9,000. The Session and Board of Managers have agreed to appeal to the congregation to raise the $9,000 needed. To date, over $1,000 has already been collected. If you would like to make a donation you can include it in your regular offering envelope, but mark Organ under special projects. Thanks for your support!

Volunteers Needed! The work on the organ will begin on Monday, June 4. Volunteers are needed on Monday, June 4 and Tuesday, June 5, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Hart Godden is arranging the work and says "It would be best if a larger number of volunteers were available on the Monday. The work involves carrying small pipes out of the chambers, unpacking the crates and sorting pipes, and washing the pipes in the kitchen. Many hands make light work". If you can help out either day, please let Shirley know in the office. You can also sign up in the narthex on Sunday.

COMMISSIONED VISITORS

First Presbyterian Church is very fortunate to have seven commissioned visitors who regularly have contact with individuals in our congregation who are home-bound. These contacts involve phone calls, sending cards, and making personal visits.

Here are what visitors have to say about visiting.
"Pastoral Care visiting is very rewarding, it

warms my heart when I visit a non-verbal person who smiles when I hold a hand while I talk or who leans towards me and rests her head on me."

Another said, "To me, being a commissioned visitor means sharing love with another person. I recently visited a lady in a care home, and when I walked into her room, I was dismayed to see her so down. She told me she wanted to die. I asked her if I could hold her hand for a few minutes. She took my hand and we just sat there. After a while we went for a wheelchair walk, and before long we were laughing and singing, and we had a most wonderful visit. She waved to me as I left on the elevator. Just knowing I added a little something to her day made my day that much more special."

If you know someone who could use a visit, or if you might be interested in being part of this ministry, please talk to Emily Ireton or the Rev. Amanda.

CANADA YOUTH

Thank you, thank you, thank you! Thanks to everyone who has supported fundraising efforts to assist youth and young adults from First Church to attend Canada Youth 2018, our national Presbyterian gathering that takes place in St. Catharines Ontario every second summer.

You have helped make this amazing opportunity possible by giving to the general fund of the church (we budget $1000 under Christian Education for this purpose each year), as well as by making donations at fundraising events like the Indian Buffet Dinner, pancake suppers, and bunwich lunches.

We are pleased to report that First Church will be supporting six members of our community to attend CY18 this summer: Alex Doolittle, Avery Doolittle, Miranda Gobin, Gabe Omolida, and Matthew Yakemchuk will attend either the Youth Track or the Discipleship Track. Aksa Yakemchuk will be going as an Adult Advisor, while our new youth leader, Jordan Sim, will attend the Youth Ministry Training Track.

We may have one small fundraiser, yet to be organized, before the summer. So, please watch for that opportunity. We'll also have an opportunity to commission our participants during a worship service before they head off in July, and we'll look forward to hearing about their experience and its impact on their lives and faith when they return. Thanks again for your support!

WALKING PROGRAMS

Now that the weather is nice, and we can get outside to walk, both the Adult and Riverbend walking programs have wrapped up for the season. A big thank you for the volunteers who helped with the residents of Riverbend. Although several walks had to be cancelled due to weather or staffing issues at Riverbend this year, you and your time are greatly appreciated!

THANK YOU!

Thanks to everyone for coming out and having your pictures taken for the Pictorial Directory. We had a great turn out, and from what I saw the pictures were fantastic! A big thank you to Carole, John, Marg, Mary, Wendy, Kash, and Jo for helping with registration, and a very special thank you to our church secretary, Shirley, who did a tremendous amount of work phoning, scheduling etc. etc. And thanks to all of YOU. WE are all going to look great in the Pictorial Directory!

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The General Assembly of The Presbyterian Church in Canada will begin on Sunday June 3, at Wilfred Laurier University, Waterloo, Ontario, at 7:00 p.m. with worship and the Celebration of Communion taking place in Lazaridis Hall. This year's theme is "With Glad and Generous Hearts."

The General Assembly is the highest court (decision-making body) of the denomination. It is made up of about 1 out of every 6 ministers of the church and an equal number of elders who are commissioned by their presbyteries to attend the annual meeting.

This year, First Church will have a few members present at the General Assembly in various roles, even though it is not our turn to send either a minister or an elder as a voting commissioner. Rev. Amanda Currie is finishing up her term as Convener of the Ecumenical and Interfaith Relations Committee, so she will be attending the assembly to present her committee's report, and to host and introduce the ecumenical and interfaith guests.

Rev. Amanda has also been asked to assist with introducing a new method of debate and discussion – consensus decision-making – which will be tested out at the Monday evening sitting. She will work with the clerks, moderator, and a couple of other assistants to help make this experiment with consensus decision-making as smooth as possible. Rev. Amanda has also agreed to be the preacher at the Monday morning worship service on the text of Acts 4:32-37 in which the early Christian community enjoyed great unity and held all their possessions in common.

As you may know, in addition to ministers and elders who serve as voting commissioners at the General Assembly, there are Young Adult Representatives (YARs) sent each year from 1 out of every 2 presbyteries across the country. This year, Matthew Yakemchuk will be attending the General Assembly as the YAR for the Presbytery of Assiniboia.

YARs have the opportunity to attend all the meetings and events surrounding the General Assembly, read and consider the reports, and ask questions and participate in the discussion and debate. Although YARs do not have a vote when it comes time for making final decisions, they are encouraged to share their thoughts on all the issues before the Assembly. One of the ways they do this is through an "Advisory Vote" in which the YARs indicate their vote on a matter before the commissioners are invited to do so.

A third member of First Church will also be attending the General Assembly this year. Donna Wilkinson has recently been asked, and has agreed, to serve as a mentor for the YARs, orienting them to the workings of the General Assembly (with the assistance of the Clerks of Assembly), supporting and encouraging them in their participation, and generally equipping these youth and young adults to have a great experience at the assembly.

Please pray for Rev. Amanda, Matthew, and Donna, as they attend and participate in the 2018 General Assembly of The Presbyterian Church in Canada. Pray for the whole Assembly, for wisdom, good discernment, a spirit of cooperation and care for one another in our deliberations, and for God's will to be done through our work. The commissioners from the Presbytery of Assiniboia are the Rev. Lip Boon Lee (minister at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Moosomin) and Fran Neuls (elder at Trinity Presbyterian Church in Grenfell). Please keep Lip Boon and Fran in your prayers during the assembly as well.

You can find out more about the General Assembly online at <http://presbyterian.ca/gao/ga2018/> and watch live streaming of the meeting starting on Sunday, June 3rd at 5:00 pm (CST).
